

The Dansville Advertiser has a much larger circulation than any other paper published in Dansville has now, or ever had. Advertisers will please note the fact.

News About Home.

To Correspondents.

SLEEPY DAVY.—Your favors arrived too late for last week's paper. Let us hear from you often.

P. P.—We are under obligations to you for that club. We think you will agree with our statement that canvassing for the Advertiser is profitable business. We want good agents in the towns immediately surrounding Dansville.

The Thirteenth.

A great deal has been said about this regiment, pro and con, by persons interested and uninterested. Those who have friends in the regiment, and know that they have been shamefully abused, to an extent as great if not greater than any other volunteers from New York, naturally feel that they should have a chance to put themselves into more pleasant conditions; while uninterested persons, whose large patriotism allows them to live in ease at home, doing nothing, make a great outcry, and declare the regiment disgraced, if by reason of untoward events they are so demoralized that they wish to come home, to re-organize, or to enlist in any other regiment; calling them the most unreasonable grumblers in the world, while they have not manifested half the discontent which these stay-at-homes do continually in consequence of the petty troubles of everyday business life. We do not dispute that there has been a great deal of unnecessary complaint in the 13th regiment, for discontent is contagious, and constantly grows upon a person or community unless arrested by a strong power. At first their unpalatable and insufficient fare excited their indignation; then came the notorious "hobby" clothing, aggravated by their poor arms and some petty annoyances. But the most prolific source of discontent, proceeded, we think, from the encouragement given by company officers to hints that the regimental staff had it in their power to relieve these difficulties, but were either too lazy or cared too little for those under their command to interest themselves in their behalf. We do not believe the regimental officers so culpable as generally represented. Every movement of suspected persons occupying their positions could not be misinterpreted, and that to their disadvantage. And we think this has been the case with them. Col. Quinby has received hundreds of courtes for the action he took in relation to the order to march his regiment to Washington with the 69th and 79th, whereas if he had done so, an application at the Adjutant's office for the proper papers of discharge would at once have revealed the blunder in confounding the 13th militia with the 13th volunteers, and thus resulted not only to Quinby's disgrace but to the greater disappointment of the members of the regiment. Col. Quinby's resignation had been tendered even before this time, and he certainly could have had no interest in the retention of the regiment. We trust on the return of the 13th, which is again reported very probable, that we shall be enabled to set forth to the public a satisfactory statement of affairs, that shall go to exonerate them of any great blame in returning home before the expiration of the period for which they enlisted.

The Pole Raising.

On Saturday last we had the pleasure of attending a pole-raising on Sparta East Hill, at the site of the old Methodist Meeting House. The day was bright and pleasant, and a goodly crowd of the brave and loyal Spartans were gathered together to run up one more banner which in the free and boundless air of heaven should flaunt defiance to the Union's foes. When all was in readiness, brave hearts and strong arms set themselves about the work, and in a few minutes the tall and graceful liberty pole stood erect. Gen. Fullerton was then elected Chairman of the meeting, and after a few introductory remarks a boy of fair-haired maidens were chosen to hoist the banner. After running it up to half-mast, the "Star-Spangled Banner" was sung by Mr. Marshall of Scottsburg, assisted by the ladies, and the banner was then drawn to the summit and greeted with three cheers. General Fullerton now introduced to the audience Job C. Hedges, Esq., of Dansville, who delivered an able and manly speech, in which he was interrupted by frequent applause. Mr. Hedges was followed by Mr. Rogers, of Woodville in an eloquent address, at the close of which, it being nearly 8 o'clock, the meeting broke up, with cheers for the speakers, cheers for the ladies, and cheers for the flag—thus closing one of the most successful and interesting occasions of the kind which we ever witnessed. Among those who took an active part in the exercises, we recognized "Uncle Dan" Rax, Messrs. L. G. Traxler and Harrison Clemons. We were unacquainted with the ladies, but hope at some future time, not only to know them well, but also to have an extensive acquaintance among the citizens of Sparta generally.

Scalded to Death.

A little girl, three years of age, a daughter of Patrick Finn, of this village, was scalded to death on Tuesday noon, by falling into a kettle of hot water, that she died the same night, after the most intense suffering.

Trotting Match.

A Grand Trotting Match will come off on the Canaseraga Course in this village, on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, as follows:

FIRST DAY.

Stallion Trotting Match for a purse and stake of $150, at 3 o'clock P. M. Mile heats, best 3 in 5, between the celebrated stallions "Gray Morgan," owned by Prindle & Stetson of Bolivar, Allegany Co., and "Philip Allen," owned by E. S. Ashley, of Nunda.

SECOND DAY.

Twenty-five dollar purse at 2 o'clock.—Best two in three. Open to all 4 year old colts.

Sweepstakes, $50. Best 3 in 5. Three horses to make a field—two to start.

This match will probably be one of the most exciting which has ever come off in Dansville, and will attract a great many lovers of the turf.

The Trot at Mt. Morris.

There was some fine trotting on the Island Course at Mt. Morris on the 8th inst. The attendance was quite large, and every thing passed off with credit. There were four different matches. The first between the stallion "Little Giant" and a bay horse from Lyons. Little Giant took the first heat, and evidently was the faster horse, but on the second heat he was declared distanced for foul driving, and the purse consequently given to the Lyons horse. The second match for colts, was won by a horse from Livonia, the age of the winning horse was warmly disputed, and with some reason we think.—The third match for double teams was won by a pair of bays from Buffalo. The fourth match for the Sweepstakes, was contested for by "Bay Prince" and "Royal George," of Buffalo, and a gray mare from Lockport. This was a very fine exhibition of speed.—The first heat was declared a "dead heat" between "Bay Prince" and the Lockport mare. The decision by which the heat was declared a "dead heat" caused considerable complaint and dissatisfaction in the crowd. Every one, except the Judges, gave the heat to the mare. The match was the best three in five, and "Royal George," by trotting some and running a good deal took three consecutive heats, and received the purse of seventy five dollars. The trotting, as a whole, was very creditable indeed, and furnished an excellent day's sport for the admirers and patrons of the turf.

The "Post-Artist."

Prof. J. Edwin Churchill, of Washington, will remain a few weeks longer in Dansville. The Professor is stopping at "Our Home" for his health, and has a studio at the Art Gallery of Messrs. Prusia & Jones. He is a true artist, as all will testify who have seen his superior work. Dropping into his atelier we found him busy at the portraits of one of our prominent citizens, while upon the wall we noticed among others admirable portraits of the following persons: Dr. Blake and Lady, Dr. B. L. Hovey, Dr. F. W. Hurd, J. Hedges, and life size portraits of Messrs. Prusia & Jones, proprietors of the gallery, all of Dansville; also, Rev. J. Pierpont, of Boston, and Judge Bryan, of Genesee. We are pleased to learn that Messrs. Prusia & Jones are doing a fine business, and are about adding a new feature to it. They will receive in a few days a fine camera for taking views of residences and landscapes, which will be finished up by the professor.

Genesee.

We take the following items from the Republican of last week:—The closing exercises of the present term of Mr. Killip's Normal School will take place at the Brick School House this evening. Parts of the Messiah are to be rendered, and the exercises will be worth listening to.

REHEARSAL.

The second rehearsal of the Normal Academy of Music takes place this evening at Concert Hall. The rehearsals have all proved pleasant and interesting, and this, doubtless, will be equal to any before given.

FIREFIN PIFARDIA.

On Sunday morning last the large Warehouse of A. Chadwick, at Piffardina, was entirely destroyed by fire. In it were some seven hundred bushels of dried Apples, belonging to E. Lauderdale, about one half of which were saved, and some fifteen or sixteen hundred bushels of barley and oats belonging to J. S. Wadsworth, which were entirely destroyed. A quantity of salt and other articles in the building were saved. When the fire was discovered between three and four o'clock in the morning, nearly the entire second story and roof was a sheet of flame. The fire is thought to be the work of an incendiary, as Mr. C. had not been in the building since Friday. Mr. Chadwick's loss is not far from $800, and it is the more severely felt as the season is now at hand for the purchasing of grain.

Returned.

The Fancy Glass Blowers who so agreeably entertained our citizens lately, are giving us another series of exhibitions this week. The following complimentary notice we cut from one of our exchanges:

Glass Blowers.—This interesting and instructive exhibition will be continued for this and to-morrow evening only. A single evening will give one a better idea of the working of Glass than can be obtained in weeks of reading on the subject.

Sewer.

We have neglected to mention before the building of a sewer on Walnut street, from Canal street to the new canal basin. Their has for some time been a great complaint of standing water in the vicinity of this sewer, and upon representation of those interested an ordinance to build this sewer was passed by the trustees. The sewer is built with plank bottom and stone sides. The contract was awarded to Andrew Murphy at $3,993 per rod.

From Orderly Bannell.

Splendid weather.—Our volunteers disatisfied—Don't know what for.—Threaten to come home any day.—Designation of Col. Quinby—Stephan in command.—The Battle—in a tight spot—How he got out.—One poor fellow shot—Evening parade—Expect to come home—Long yards promised.

Four Bannell, Arlington Heights, August 7, 1861.

We are having splendid weather here now. Although it is quite hot, a nice breeze comes off the Potomac, and makes it pleasant.—Our regiment is in a bad state—the men all dissatisfied, and they don't know what for! They say they will go home the 14th at all hazards. I think they are foolish to act and talk so. It won't do any good. Our Col. has resigned and gone home, and Col. Stephan commands now.

I will give you further reasons why I did not write sooner after coming back from the battle. I was completely tired out, had the reports of the company to write up, and a good deal other work to do for a week; a number of the other boys wrote, and I thought that you would hear from us and not be alarmed. Still I ought to have written, but it is all right now, and I feel to thank God for my life. It makes me shudder to think of the battle. I was in a bad place at one time. Our company and regiment got scattered, all was confusion, and we could hardly tell who the enemy was; and when we made a charge on one of their batteries, they rushed out and said that we were killing our own men, and we ceased firing. They looked so much like our own men that we did not know the difference until they opened a fire on us. That is the way they would fight. Some of their uniforms closely resembled ours, and we got so mixed up that we didn't know what to do but to keep shooting and laying down and loading, & so I commenced telling what a place I got into. Almost choked to death for water, I rushed into an old stone building where the balls were flying like hail, and what do you think it was! It proved to be a rebels' hospital, and there I stood surrounded by rebels. I said nothing.—They were very busy cutting off arms and legs and doing up wounds. I thought I would walk out a little ways and then start on a run. So I stepped in front of the building, when about a dozen balls, came spitting at me, and I thought I had better dig out of that as fast as possible—and I told my legs to do their duty, and I guess they did. There was a perfect shower of balls after me, and if God did not save me, what did!—Wasn't I thankful when I got out where our troops were? A poor fellow just in front of me when most to our men, was hit by one of the balls which I think were intended for me. He immediately dropped, saying, "Oh, God, I am shot!" Poor fellow, he died like a soldier.

The drum is beating for evening parade, and I must close. It is now reported that we shall go home when our time is up; you shall receive due notice. When I get home I will tell you some long yarns. From your soldier brother, M. J. BUNNELL.

Pleasant Time.

On Monday evening, Job C. Hedges, Esq., had a few friends to tea, including Mr. J. B. Gilman, 1st Minnesota Regiment, Mr. William McMahon of the 27th N. Y. Regiment, and ourself. Mr. Gilman is slowly recovering from the wound which he received at the battle of Bull's Run, and seems to be anxious to get a chance at the rebels. Mr. McMahon, from whose letter we copied in our last, is home on short furlough. With conversation, backgammon, whist, euchre, and other et ceteras, not forgetting the company of the ladies nor the fine repast furnished by them, the evening passed most pleasantly. We were much gratified to note the evident improvement in the young Attorney's financial affairs. His gas was not cut off, neither were the borrowed dishes and furniture called for before we left.—People are gaining confidence in him.

Time Up.

The three months for which the 13th Regiment was sworn into the service of the United States, expired yesterday, and letters received here this week, speak positively of their discharge. We trust they can show sufficient reason why they should be discharged, while other regiments which enlisted in a like manner are retained. Their cases are an aggravated one, we know—and it lies with the War Department and not us to pass judgment on them. We bespeak for them a hearty welcome home.

Dansville Seminary.

The Fall Term of this institution opens on Thursday, the 20th inst., with the following FACULTY:

Principal—Rev. J. J. BROWN, A. M. Professor of Mathematics—A. H. JONES, A. M. Professor of Languages—P. W. DORRIS, A. M. Preceptress—Miss KATE C. DORRIS. Music—Miss YOUNG.

We have no doubt that under the guidance of its able Principal and faculty this Seminary will before long obtain the wide and enviable reputation which it deserves.

Donation To-Night.

The friends of Rev. Mr. Fox will remember his Donation Visit at the hall this evening. Mr. Fox preaches in this village but one Sunday before the Annual Conference, and we wish him to leave Dansville with the kindly remembrances which his talent and piety should kindle in our hearts. Give him a benefit.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT AT GENESSEE.—We learn that Mr. William Doty, of Genesee, met with a terrible accident on Friday night last, which there is some reason to fear will prove fatal. He was awakened in the night by a rap, and in the darkness he opened the door leading to the cellar instead of the hall door which is next to it, stepped forward and fell headlong down the cellar way to the bottom, striking upon his head. He was taken up insensible, and up to Saturday evening remained in the same condition. Mr. Doty is a highly respectable citizen, and the father of L. L. Doty, Esq., Private Secretary to Gov. Morgan. We sincerely hope to hear of his recovery.—Rock Dem.

—We learn that Mr. Doty died from the effects of his injuries on Saturday night.

THE BUFFALO REGIMENT.—The Tribune correspondent of Saturday says, "Mayor Alburger of Buffalo, the Hon. Henry W. Rogers, and Judge Verrill of that city visited the 21st New-York Volunteers, and carefully looked into the condition of the regiment.—This and the other New-York regiments enlisted under the act of April 16 will not be permitted to go home at the expiration of the three months. This is settled."

INCREASE OF SOLDIERS' PAY.—Among the bills passed by Congress at the extra session, was one for increasing the pay of soldiers and non-commissioned officers. It was at first proposed to add four dollars a month, but an amendment was adopted reducing the increase to two dollars; so that hereafter a private soldier will receive thirteen dollars and non-commissioned officers in proportion.

EMPLOYMENT! ($75!) AGENTS WANTED! We will pay from $25 to $75 per month, and all expenses to active Agents or Agents in Commission. Particulars sent on application. Address: ESTABLISHMENT, CORNER, R. JAMES, General Agent, Milan, Ohio. 1671

DIED. CLARK.—In this village, Aug. 13, Mrs. Charity Barford Clark, wife of the late Dr. W. F. Clark, an old resident of Dansville, aged 68 years. The friends of the family are invited to attend her funeral at her late residence on Elizabeth street, this afternoon at 2 1/2 o'clock. A funeral sermon will be preached at the Presbyterian Church on Sabbath morning.

DANSVILLE MARKET.

[Corrected weekly for THE ADVERTISER, BY CARPENTER & BRYAN, dealers in Drugs and Medicines, Groceries, Provisions, Crockery, &c., and may be relied upon as being correct in every particular.]

Table listing market prices for various goods including Flour, Wheat, Corn, Potatoes, and other commodities.

DANSVILLE SEMINARY.

The next Term of the Dansville Seminary will commence on Thursday, Aug. 20th. As this is one of the institutions designated by the Regents for the instruction of Common School Teachers, a class will be formed for that purpose, in which instruction will be given gratuitously. Those desiring to teach the coming winter will do well to avail themselves of the advantages thus offered. J. J. BROWN, Principal.

WILCOX & GIBBS' SEWING MACHINES.

Price with Hemmer and Feller, $35.00. THIS MACHINE HAS POINTS OF SUPERIORITY PECULIARLY ITS OWN. STITCHING, HEMMING, AND FELLING WITH A SINGLE THREAD.

It forms a flat, even and elastic seam, which is unrivaled in its kind, and is superior to all other machines in its construction, and also under all circumstances, to sew up the wash-tub.

It is a mechanical wonder.—Scientific American. "Among the best and most serviceable Sewing Machines, light and elegantly finished, and so simple in its construction, that it seems almost impossible for it to get out of repair."—Pittsburgh Chronicle.

"This machine is of great utility to learners, prevents the possibility of the machine being run in the wrong direction, or the balance wheel wearing a false groove."—Boston Transcript.

"Another feature which deserves particular attention is the 'Widow's Patent Needle' which can be set in two thousand stitches or two yards of work, can be done in one minute without stopping a stitch.

"It is especially the good, low priced Family Sewing Machine that the public have long been waiting for."—Boston Transcript.

"It is a wonderful production, and for family use especially, no other will bear any comparison with it."—Pittsburgh Chronicle.

"The undersigned, Missionary to Constantinople, has examined more than twenty different kinds of Sewing Machines, and after some six weeks experience with Wilcox & Gibbs' Patent, he has purchased one of them, as the best adapted to the wants of his family, and as the best he has to require repair."

"We must, in justice, express our confidence in the merits of the Wilcox & Gibbs Sewing Machine.—We consider that a great desideratum has been supplied by it, in proving beyond doubt, that two threads are not as supposed, necessary to a good instrument."—Christian Advocate and Jour., June 21, 1861.

"We have one of these machines in use, and think more highly of it than of any of the number we have tried."—Richmond Whig.

"The undersigned, Missionary to Constantinople, has examined more than twenty different kinds of Sewing Machines, and after some six weeks experience with Wilcox & Gibbs' Patent, he has purchased one of them, as the best adapted to the wants of his family, and as the best he has to require repair."

"We must, in justice, express our confidence in the merits of the Wilcox & Gibbs Sewing Machine.—We consider that a great desideratum has been supplied by it, in proving beyond doubt, that two threads are not as supposed, necessary to a good instrument."—Christian Advocate and Jour., June 21, 1861.

MAMMOTH ESTABLISHMENT OF Angell, Hall & Kuhn.

NOW OPEN FOR THE INSPECTION OF THE PUBLIC!

Messrs. ANGELL, HALL & KUHN occupy a large Double Store, which is built on the site of the old Exchange Hotel, and nearly opposite the site of the National Hotel. This mammoth building is now filled to repletion with a splendid stock of STAPLE AND FANCY Dry Goods, in Great Variety.

PRINTS AND DE LAINES, SHEETINGS, SHIRTINGS, HOSEY, UMBRELLAS, PARASOLS, &c.

FRESH FAMILY GROCERIES BY THE TON.

SUGARS, TEARS, COFFEES, MOLASSES, CANDLES, RICE, SODA, CREAM TARTAR, TOBACCO, &c., &c.

Flour & Feed of All Kinds.

CROCKERY, STONE WARE, WOODEN WARE, SHOVELS, HOES AND NAILS.

KEROSENE OIL, BURNING FLUID, CAMPEPHE, TURPENTINE, &c.

All Kinds of COUNTRY PRODUCE

Taken in Exchange for Goods, at the Highest Market Price.

Don't Forget Exchange Place, Angell's Block, Main Street.

THE PLACE TO BUY GOOD GOODS CHEAP! 237 ANGELL, HALL & KUHN.

DANSVILLE CLOTHING EMPORIUM.

MARTIN CURTIS, PROPRIETOR OF THE DANSVILLE CLOTHING EMPORIUM, WOULD CALL THE ATTENTION OF ALL TO HIS Fine Stock of Fashionable Goods.

WILCOX & GIBBS' SEWING MACHINES.

Price with Hemmer and Feller, $35.00. THIS MACHINE HAS POINTS OF SUPERIORITY PECULIARLY ITS OWN. STITCHING, HEMMING, AND FELLING WITH A SINGLE THREAD.

It forms a flat, even and elastic seam, which is unrivaled in its kind, and is superior to all other machines in its construction, and also under all circumstances, to sew up the wash-tub.

It is a mechanical wonder.—Scientific American. "Among the best and most serviceable Sewing Machines, light and elegantly finished, and so simple in its construction, that it seems almost impossible for it to get out of repair."—Pittsburgh Chronicle.

"This machine is of great utility to learners, prevents the possibility of the machine being run in the wrong direction, or the balance wheel wearing a false groove."—Boston Transcript.

"Another feature which deserves particular attention is the 'Widow's Patent Needle' which can be set in two thousand stitches or two yards of work, can be done in one minute without stopping a stitch.

"It is especially the good, low priced Family Sewing Machine that the public have long been waiting for."—Boston Transcript.

"It is a wonderful production, and for family use especially, no other will bear any comparison with it."—Pittsburgh Chronicle.

"The undersigned, Missionary to Constantinople, has examined more than twenty different kinds of Sewing Machines, and after some six weeks experience with Wilcox & Gibbs' Patent, he has purchased one of them, as the best adapted to the wants of his family, and as the best he has to require repair."

"We must, in justice, express our confidence in the merits of the Wilcox & Gibbs Sewing Machine.—We consider that a great desideratum has been supplied by it, in proving beyond doubt, that two threads are not as supposed, necessary to a good instrument."—Christian Advocate and Jour., June 21, 1861.

"We have one of these machines in use, and think more highly of it than of any of the number we have tried."—Richmond Whig.

"The undersigned, Missionary to Constantinople, has examined more than twenty different kinds of Sewing Machines, and after some six weeks experience with Wilcox & Gibbs' Patent, he has purchased one of them, as the best adapted to the wants of his family, and as the best he has to require repair."

"We must, in justice, express our confidence in the merits of the Wilcox & Gibbs Sewing Machine.—We consider that a great desideratum has been supplied by it, in proving beyond doubt, that two threads are not as supposed, necessary to a good instrument."—Christian Advocate and Jour., June 21, 1861.

Something for the Times!!! A NECESSITY IN EVERY HOUSEHOLD! JOHN'S CROSLY'S American Cement Glue!

The Strongest Glue in the World, for cementing Wood, Leather, Glass, Ivory, China, Marble, Porcelain, Alabaster, Bone, Coral, &c. The Only Article of the Kind ever Produced which will withstand Water.

STILL ON HAND! Reports to the contrary notwithstanding.

BUGGIES!

CHEAP FOR CASH!

Repairing!

AND MOST REASONABLE TERMS.

Dansville Foundry.

Celebrated Locking Plow

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.

AMALGAM BFLIS

Diphtheria & Putrid Sore Throat

THOMPSON'S PAIN TINCTURE.

COMMERCIAL COLLEGE.

BOOK KEEPING,

Hicks' College, Buffalo.

ENGRAVING.

DESIGNER AND ENGRAVER,

HOUSE AND LOT FOR SALE CHEAP!

THE CREAM OF THE JOKE!

THE "GOOD SAMARITAN" COOK STOVE

BOARDERS WANTED.

Dansville Advertiser. THURSDAY MORNING, AUG. 15. A. O. BUNNELL, EDITOR. The Dansville Advertiser has a much larger circulation than any other paper published in Dansville has now, or ever had. Advertisers will please note the fact. News About Home. To Correspondents. SLEEPY DAVY.—Your favors arrived too late for last week's paper. Let us hear from you often. P. P.—We are under obligations to you for that club. We think you will agree with our statement that canvassing for the Advertiser is profitable business. We want good agents in the towns immediately surrounding Dansville. The Thirteenth. A great deal has been said about this regiment, pro and con, by persons interested and uninterested. Those who have friends in the regiment, and know that they have been shamefully abused, to an extent as great if not greater than any other volunteers from New York, naturally feel that they should have a chance to put themselves into more pleasant conditions; while uninterested persons, whose large patriotism allows them to live in ease at home, doing nothing, make a great outcry, and declare the regiment disgraced, if by reason of untoward events they are so demoralized that they wish to come home, to re-organize, or to enlist in any other regiment; calling them the most unreasonable grumblers in the world, while they have not manifested half the discontent which these stay-at-homes do continually in consequence of the petty troubles of everyday business life. We do not dispute that there has been a great deal of unnecessary complaint in the 13th regiment, for discontent is contagious, and constantly grows upon a person or community unless arrested by a strong power. At first their unpalatable and insufficient fare excited their indignation; then came the notorious "hobby" clothing, aggravated by their poor arms and some petty annoyances. But the most prolific source of discontent, proceeded, we think, from the encouragement given by company officers to hints that the regimental staff had it in their power to relieve these difficulties, but were either too lazy or cared too little for those under their command to interest themselves in their behalf. We do not believe the regimental officers so culpable as generally represented. Every movement of suspected persons occupying their positions could not be misinterpreted, and that to their disadvantage. And we think this has been the case with them. Col. Quinby has received hundreds of courtes for the action he took in relation to the order to march his regiment to Washington with the 69th and 79th, whereas if he had done so, an application at the Adjutant's office for the proper papers of discharge would at once have revealed the blunder in confounding the 13th militia with the 13th volunteers, and thus resulted not only to Quinby's disgrace but to the greater disappointment of the members of the regiment. Col. Quinby's resignation had been tendered even before this time, and he certainly could have had no interest in the retention of the regiment. We trust on the return of the 13th, which is again reported very probable, that we shall be enabled to set forth to the public a satisfactory statement of affairs, that shall go to exonerate them of any great blame in returning home before the expiration of the period for which they enlisted. The Pole Raising. On Saturday last we had the pleasure of attending a pole-raising on Sparta East Hill, at the site of the old Methodist Meeting House. The day was bright and pleasant, and a goodly crowd of the brave and loyal Spartans were gathered together to run up one more banner which in the free and boundless air of heaven should flaunt defiance to the Union's foes. When all was in readiness, brave hearts and strong arms set themselves about the work, and in a few minutes the tall and graceful liberty pole stood erect. Gen. Fullerton was then elected Chairman of the meeting, and after a few introductory remarks a boy of fair-haired maidens were chosen to hoist the banner. After running it up to half-mast, the "Star-Spangled Banner" was sung by Mr. Marshall of Scottsburg, assisted by the ladies, and the banner was then drawn to the summit and greeted with three cheers. General Fullerton now introduced to the audience Job C. Hedges, Esq., of Dansville, who delivered an able and manly speech, in which he was interrupted by frequent applause. Mr. Hedges was followed by Mr. Rogers, of Woodville in an eloquent address, at the close of which, it being nearly 8 o'clock, the meeting broke up, with cheers for the speakers, cheers for the ladies, and cheers for the flag—thus closing one of the most successful and interesting occasions of the kind which we ever witnessed. Among those who took an active part in the exercises, we recognized "Uncle Dan" Rax, Messrs. L. G. Traxler and Harrison Clemons. We were unacquainted with the ladies, but hope at some future time, not only to know them well, but also to have an extensive acquaintance among the citizens of Sparta generally. Scalded to Death. A little girl, three years of age, a daughter of Patrick Finn, of this village, was scalded to death on Tuesday noon, by falling into a kettle of hot water, that she died the same night, after the most intense suffering. From Orderly Bannell. Splendid weather.—Our volunteers disatisfied—Don't know what for.—Threaten to come home any day.—Designation of Col. Quinby—Stephan in command.—The Battle—in a tight spot—How he got out.—One poor fellow shot—Evening parade—Expect to come home—Long yards promised. Four Bannell, Arlington Heights, August 7, 1861. We are having splendid weather here now. Although it is quite hot, a nice breeze comes off the Potomac, and makes it pleasant.—Our regiment is in a bad state—the men all dissatisfied, and they don't know what for! They say they will go home the 14th at all hazards. I think they are foolish to act and talk so. It won't do any good. Our Col. has resigned and gone home, and Col. Stephan commands now. I will give you further reasons why I did not write sooner after coming back from the battle. I was completely tired out, had the reports of the company to write up, and a good deal other work to do for a week; a number of the other boys wrote, and I thought that you would hear from us and not be alarmed. Still I ought to have written, but it is all right now, and I feel to thank God for my life. It makes me shudder to think of the battle. I was in a bad place at one time. Our company and regiment got scattered, all was confusion, and we could hardly tell who the enemy was; and when we made a charge on one of their batteries, they rushed out and said that we were killing our own men, and we ceased firing. They looked so much like our own men that we did not know the difference until they opened a fire on us. That is the way they would fight. Some of their uniforms closely resembled ours, and we got so mixed up that we didn't know what to do but to keep shooting and laying down and loading, & so I commenced telling what a place I got into. Almost choked to death for water, I rushed into an old stone building where the balls were flying like hail, and what do you think it was! It proved to be a rebels' hospital, and there I stood surrounded by rebels. I said nothing.—They were very busy cutting off arms and legs and doing up wounds. I thought I would walk out a little ways and then start on a run. So I stepped in front of the building, when about a dozen balls, came spitting at me, and I thought I had better dig out of that as fast as possible—and I told my legs to do their duty, and I guess they did. There was a perfect shower of balls after me, and if God did not save me, what did!—Wasn't I thankful when I got out where our troops were? A poor fellow just in front of me when most to our men, was hit by one of the balls which I think were intended for me. He immediately dropped, saying, "Oh, God, I am shot!" Poor fellow, he died like a soldier. The drum is beating for evening parade, and I must close. It is now reported that we shall go home when our time is up; you shall receive due notice. When I get home I will tell you some long yarns. From your soldier brother, M. J. BUNNELL. Pleasant Time. On Monday evening, Job C. Hedges, Esq., had a few friends to tea, including Mr. J. B. Gilman, 1st Minnesota Regiment, Mr. William McMahon of the 27th N. Y. Regiment, and ourself. Mr. Gilman is slowly recovering from the wound which he received at the battle of Bull's Run, and seems to be anxious to get a chance at the rebels. Mr. McMahon, from whose letter we copied in our last, is home on short furlough. With conversation, backgammon, whist, euchre, and other et ceteras, not forgetting the company of the ladies nor the fine repast