

THE RETURNING REGIMENTS.

THE THIRTIETH REGIMENT.

Baltimore, July 20, 1861. The Thirtieth New York regiment returned to-morrow at 9 P. M., under Lieutenant Colonel Clark. They will arrive early to-day morning.

RECEPTION OF THE TWELFTH REGIMENT, NEW YORK STATE MILITIA, COLONEL BUTTERFIELD.

A meeting of the Committee of Arrangements appointed by the Board of War, to receive the Twelfth Regiment, will be held to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock in the City Hall, Philadelphia.

RETURN OF THE SIXTH REGIMENT.

The Sixth New York Volunteer Regiment, having concluded the three months' active service for which they enlisted in the United States Army, returned to this city at twelve o'clock last night. It was by no means generally known that the regiment was coming home. A vague anticipation to the effect had got abroad, but it had been subconsciously in the minds of the people. The militia friends of the members of the regiment were, however, much better informed.

THE SIXTY-NINTH REGIMENT.

Major J. C. Hart, of the Sixty-ninth Regiment, which was organized in the City—A. MIDDLETOWN, N. Y. The Sixth New York Volunteer Regiment, having concluded the three months' active service for which they enlisted in the United States Army, returned to this city at twelve o'clock last night. It was by no means generally known that the regiment was coming home. A vague anticipation to the effect had got abroad, but it had been subconsciously in the minds of the people. The militia friends of the members of the regiment were, however, much better informed.

THE BATTLE AT BULL RUN.

LETTERS FROM A MEMBER OF THE SEVENTY-NINTH REGIMENT.

We attacked the rebels on Sunday. We were ready to meet them on Monday. They had three or four batteries with us, including Sherman's. They shelled the woods, in which they had dozens of masked batteries, which seem to be their forte. The Sixty-ninth followed them up the hills, through gullies, across streams deep and deep, and the enemy playing on us from a distance with canister and shell, but we ran double quick up the hills, where they were waiting for us. We were then ordered to charge, and the Seventy-ninth followed them up the hills, through gullies, across streams deep and deep, and the enemy playing on us from a distance with canister and shell, but we ran double quick up the hills, where they were waiting for us.

THE CASUALTIES AT BULL RUN.

The following are the names of some of the victims of the Bull Run affair, in addition to the very full list published in yesterday's Herald:

- Axel I. S., Aid to Colonel Sedgwick.
Carry—Company D, 2nd N. Y. S. M.
Dunphy John H., Sixty-ninth N. Y. S. M.
Egan—Company F, 30th N. Y. S. M. (reported killed)
Hess—Company D, 30th N. Y. S. M.
Trotter—Company B, 28th N. Y. S. M.
Whitcomb—Company I, 30th N. Y. S. M.

THEATRICAL AND MUSICAL MATTERS.

There is but little news to record in our city theatricals this week, but preparations seem to be making for a theatrical revival throughout the country. Managers appear to have great expectations upon the returning volunteers, as if our brave soldiers had returned from the war with as much money as glory. In foreign parts the theatre goes on seminally. The United States has a very few. The theatricals here are very few. The theatricals here are very few.

LETTER FROM ONE OF THE SCOTT LIFE GUARDS.

In your issue of July 21st, you published an account of those missing from the Thirtieth regiment of New York—Second regiment of Scott Life Guards. Among the names appears that of my brother, Jonathan Owsen Fox. I am a member of the same regiment, and I can assure you that he is not missing. He is in the large field near Washington, and is in good health.

THE BATTLE AT BULL RUN.

Griffin's battery which was stationed at Bull Run. It was the beginning of February last that I was ordered to the battery at Bull Run. It was the beginning of February last that I was ordered to the battery at Bull Run. It was the beginning of February last that I was ordered to the battery at Bull Run. It was the beginning of February last that I was ordered to the battery at Bull Run.

THE YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION AND THE WOUNDED SOLDIERS.

Dr. Hogue's church, on the corner of Madison Avenue and Thirty-first Street, was crowded by a large and highly respectable congregation. The meeting was presided over by Dr. Hogue, under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association, the Secretary of which was expected to present a report of the transactions of that body since the breaking out of the war. Dr. Hogue was to have presided, but he did not attend. The 47th Psalm having been read in good style by the choir and the Rev. Dr. Hogue having made an eloquent prayer, the Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association presented a report of the transactions of that body since the breaking out of the war.

DEPARTURE OF RECRUITS FOR DURKEE'S ZOUAVES.

The last squad of recruits for Colonel Durkee's Zouaves, numbered 110 men, passed departing this afternoon. They had been in the fourth squad that have been dispatched to Fort Monroe in order to fill up the regiment to the war complement. The regiment is now fully equipped and upon a complete war footing, having been equipped by the State, and it is expected to start for the front in a few days.

CAPT. KELPATRICK'S MOUNTED RIFLES.

Lieutenant Kelpatrick's Mounted Rifles, the Christian Association, presented a report of the transactions of that body since the breaking out of the war. Dr. Hogue was to have presided, but he did not attend. The 47th Psalm having been read in good style by the choir and the Rev. Dr. Hogue having made an eloquent prayer, the Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association presented a report of the transactions of that body since the breaking out of the war.

INCIDENTS OF THE BATTLE.

The ALLIED BATTERIES OF THE REBEL ARMY. A member of the Fifth Massachusetts Regiment, named Robinson, writes from his own personal experience of the harrowing of the rebel soldiers in the last Bull Run battle. He says that when the orders to retire were received they passed some of their dead who had been mangled after they fell. One man had been wounded in the hand and when he fell he was a horrible sight. The writer says that he could not believe before that such things could take place on the face of the earth. He says that when he saw the rebels, he saw the rebels in the hospital, but will soon be able to resume his duties.

OUR OWN CORRESPONDENCE.

Has Havana Correspondence. Havana, July 21, 1861. The report from Key West, on investigation, does not amount to anything. It appears that the commander at that point had detached the Niagara and Crusader to overhaul the Sumter, if they could accomplish it, and of course to take her, if they could bring her within range of their guns and would stay there. The belief was general in the early morning of Saturday, but before night the fact was established. The object, however, of sensation had been obtained.

OUR OWN CORRESPONDENCE.

Havana, July 21, 1861. The report from Key West, on investigation, does not amount to anything. It appears that the commander at that point had detached the Niagara and Crusader to overhaul the Sumter, if they could accomplish it, and of course to take her, if they could bring her within range of their guns and would stay there. The belief was general in the early morning of Saturday, but before night the fact was established. The object, however, of sensation had been obtained.

OUR OWN CORRESPONDENCE.

Havana, July 21, 1861. The report from Key West, on investigation, does not amount to anything. It appears that the commander at that point had detached the Niagara and Crusader to overhaul the Sumter, if they could accomplish it, and of course to take her, if they could bring her within range of their guns and would stay there. The belief was general in the early morning of Saturday, but before night the fact was established. The object, however, of sensation had been obtained.

OUR OWN CORRESPONDENCE.

Havana, July 21, 1861. The report from Key West, on investigation, does not amount to anything. It appears that the commander at that point had detached the Niagara and Crusader to overhaul the Sumter, if they could accomplish it, and of course to take her, if they could bring her within range of their guns and would stay there. The belief was general in the early morning of Saturday, but before night the fact was established. The object, however, of sensation had been obtained.

OUR OWN CORRESPONDENCE.

Havana, July 21, 1861. The report from Key West, on investigation, does not amount to anything. It appears that the commander at that point had detached the Niagara and Crusader to overhaul the Sumter, if they could accomplish it, and of course to take her, if they could bring her within range of their guns and would stay there. The belief was general in the early morning of Saturday, but before night the fact was established. The object, however, of sensation had been obtained.

OUR OWN CORRESPONDENCE.

Havana, July 21, 1861. The report from Key West, on investigation, does not amount to anything. It appears that the commander at that point had detached the Niagara and Crusader to overhaul the Sumter, if they could accomplish it, and of course to take her, if they could bring her within range of their guns and would stay there. The belief was general in the early morning of Saturday, but before night the fact was established. The object, however, of sensation had been obtained.

OUR OWN CORRESPONDENCE.

Havana, July 21, 1861. The report from Key West, on investigation, does not amount to anything. It appears that the commander at that point had detached the Niagara and Crusader to overhaul the Sumter, if they could accomplish it, and of course to take her, if they could bring her within range of their guns and would stay there. The belief was general in the early morning of Saturday, but before night the fact was established. The object, however, of sensation had been obtained.

OUR OWN CORRESPONDENCE.

Havana, July 21, 1861. The report from Key West, on investigation, does not amount to anything. It appears that the commander at that point had detached the Niagara and Crusader to overhaul the Sumter, if they could accomplish it, and of course to take her, if they could bring her within range of their guns and would stay there. The belief was general in the early morning of Saturday, but before night the fact was established. The object, however, of sensation had been obtained.

OUR OWN CORRESPONDENCE.

Havana, July 21, 1861. The report from Key West, on investigation, does not amount to anything. It appears that the commander at that point had detached the Niagara and Crusader to overhaul the Sumter, if they could accomplish it, and of course to take her, if they could bring her within range of their guns and would stay there. The belief was general in the early morning of Saturday, but before night the fact was established. The object, however, of sensation had been obtained.

OUR OWN CORRESPONDENCE.

Havana, July 21, 1861. The report from Key West, on investigation, does not amount to anything. It appears that the commander at that point had detached the Niagara and Crusader to overhaul the Sumter, if they could accomplish it, and of course to take her, if they could bring her within range of their guns and would stay there. The belief was general in the early morning of Saturday, but before night the fact was established. The object, however, of sensation had been obtained.

OUR OWN CORRESPONDENCE.

Havana, July 21, 1861. The report from Key West, on investigation, does not amount to anything. It appears that the commander at that point had detached the Niagara and Crusader to overhaul the Sumter, if they could accomplish it, and of course to take her, if they could bring her within range of their guns and would stay there. The belief was general in the early morning of Saturday, but before night the fact was established. The object, however, of sensation had been obtained.

OUR OWN CORRESPONDENCE.

Havana, July 21, 1861. The report from Key West, on investigation, does not amount to anything. It appears that the commander at that point had detached the Niagara and Crusader to overhaul the Sumter, if they could accomplish it, and of course to take her, if they could bring her within range of their guns and would stay there. The belief was general in the early morning of Saturday, but before night the fact was established. The object, however, of sensation had been obtained.

OUR OWN CORRESPONDENCE.

Havana, July 21, 1861. The report from Key West, on investigation, does not amount to anything. It appears that the commander at that point had detached the Niagara and Crusader to overhaul the Sumter, if they could accomplish it, and of course to take her, if they could bring her within range of their guns and would stay there. The belief was general in the early morning of Saturday, but before night the fact was established. The object, however, of sensation had been obtained.

OUR OWN CORRESPONDENCE.

Havana, July 21, 1861. The report from Key West, on investigation, does not amount to anything. It appears that the commander at that point had detached the Niagara and Crusader to overhaul the Sumter, if they could accomplish it, and of course to take her, if they could bring her within range of their guns and would stay there. The belief was general in the early morning of Saturday, but before night the fact was established. The object, however, of sensation had been obtained.

OUR OWN CORRESPONDENCE.

Havana, July 21, 1861. The report from Key West, on investigation, does not amount to anything. It appears that the commander at that point had detached the Niagara and Crusader to overhaul the Sumter, if they could accomplish it, and of course to take her, if they could bring her within range of their guns and would stay there. The belief was general in the early morning of Saturday, but before night the fact was established. The object, however, of sensation had been obtained.

OUR OWN CORRESPONDENCE.

Havana, July 21, 1861. The report from Key West, on investigation, does not amount to anything. It appears that the commander at that point had detached the Niagara and Crusader to overhaul the Sumter, if they could accomplish it, and of course to take her, if they could bring her within range of their guns and would stay there. The belief was general in the early morning of Saturday, but before night the fact was established. The object, however, of sensation had been obtained.

OUR OWN CORRESPONDENCE.

Havana, July 21, 1861. The report from Key West, on investigation, does not amount to anything. It appears that the commander at that point had detached the Niagara and Crusader to overhaul the Sumter, if they could accomplish it, and of course to take her, if they could bring her within range of their guns and would stay there. The belief was general in the early morning of Saturday, but before night the fact was established. The object, however, of sensation had been obtained.

OUR OWN CORRESPONDENCE.

Havana, July 21, 1861. The report from Key West, on investigation, does not amount to anything. It appears that the commander at that point had detached the Niagara and Crusader to overhaul the Sumter, if they could accomplish it, and of course to take her, if they could bring her within range of their guns and would stay there. The belief was general in the early morning of Saturday, but before night the fact was established. The object, however, of sensation had been obtained.

OUR OWN CORRESPONDENCE.

Havana, July 21, 1861. The report from Key West, on investigation, does not amount to anything. It appears that the commander at that point had detached the Niagara and Crusader to overhaul the Sumter, if they could accomplish it, and of course to take her, if they could bring her within range of their guns and would stay there. The belief was general in the early morning of Saturday, but before night the fact was established. The object, however, of sensation had been obtained.

OUR OWN CORRESPONDENCE.

Havana, July 21, 1861. The report from Key West, on investigation, does not amount to anything. It appears that the commander at that point had detached the Niagara and Crusader to overhaul the Sumter, if they could accomplish it, and of course to take her, if they could bring her within range of their guns and would stay there. The belief was general in the early morning of Saturday, but before night the fact was established. The object, however, of sensation had been obtained.

OUR OWN CORRESPONDENCE.

Havana, July 21, 1861. The report from Key West, on investigation, does not amount to anything. It appears that the commander at that point had detached the Niagara and Crusader to overhaul the Sumter, if they could accomplish it, and of course to take her, if they could bring her within range of their guns and would stay there. The belief was general in the early morning of Saturday, but before night the fact was established. The object, however, of sensation had been obtained.

OUR OWN CORRESPONDENCE.

Havana, July 21, 1861. The report from Key West, on investigation, does not amount to anything. It appears that the commander at that point had detached the Niagara and Crusader to overhaul the Sumter, if they could accomplish it, and of course to take her, if they could bring her within range of their guns and would stay there. The belief was general in the early morning of Saturday, but before night the fact was established. The object, however, of sensation had been obtained.

OUR OWN CORRESPONDENCE.

Havana, July 21, 1861. The report from Key West, on investigation, does not amount to anything. It appears that the commander at that point had detached the Niagara and Crusader to overhaul the Sumter, if they could accomplish it, and of course to take her, if they could bring her within range of their guns and would stay there. The belief was general in the early morning of Saturday, but before night the fact was established. The object, however, of sensation had been obtained.

OUR OWN CORRESPONDENCE.

Havana, July 21, 1861. The report from Key West, on investigation, does not amount to anything. It appears that the commander at that point had detached the Niagara and Crusader to overhaul the Sumter, if they could accomplish it, and of course to take her, if they could bring her within range of their guns and would stay there. The belief was general in the early morning of Saturday, but before night the fact was established. The object, however, of sensation had been obtained.

OUR OWN CORRESPONDENCE.

Havana, July 21, 1861. The report from Key West, on investigation, does not amount to anything. It appears that the commander at that point had detached the Niagara and Crusader to overhaul the Sumter, if they could accomplish it, and of course to take her, if they could bring her within range of their guns and would stay there. The belief was general in the early morning of Saturday, but before night the fact was established. The object, however, of sensation had been obtained.

OUR OWN CORRESPONDENCE.

Havana, July 21, 1861. The report from Key West, on investigation, does not amount to anything. It appears that the commander at that point had detached the Niagara and Crusader to overhaul the Sumter, if they could accomplish it, and of course to take her, if they could bring her within range of their guns and would stay there. The belief was general in the early morning of Saturday, but before night the fact was established. The object, however, of sensation had been obtained.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Maria Valentin, infant daughter of Elias W. and Julia E. Boyden, aged 4 months. The relatives and friends of the family are respectfully invited to attend the funeral, this (Monday) afternoon, at two o'clock, from the residence of her parents No. 25 Levee.

MISCELLANEOUS.

On Sunday, July 22, Maria Louisa daughter of Edward and Elizabeth Carter, aged 11 weeks. The friends and acquaintances are respectfully invited to attend the funeral, this (Monday) afternoon, at two o'clock, from the residence of her parents No. 25 Levee.

MISCELLANEOUS.

On Sunday, July 22, Maria Louisa daughter of Edward and Elizabeth Carter, aged 11 weeks. The friends and acquaintances are respectfully invited to attend the funeral, this (Monday) afternoon, at two o'clock, from the residence of her parents No. 25 Levee.

MISCELLANEOUS.

On Sunday, July 22, Maria Louisa daughter of Edward and Elizabeth Carter, aged 11 weeks. The friends and acquaintances are respectfully invited to attend the funeral, this (Monday) afternoon, at two o'clock, from the residence of her parents No. 25 Levee.

MISCELLANEOUS.

On Sunday, July 22, Maria Louisa daughter of Edward and Elizabeth Carter, aged 11 weeks. The friends and acquaintances are respectfully invited to attend the funeral, this (Monday) afternoon, at two o'clock, from the residence of her parents No. 25 Levee.

MISCELLANEOUS.

On Sunday, July 22, Maria Louisa daughter of Edward and Elizabeth Carter, aged 11 weeks. The friends and acquaintances are respectfully invited to attend the funeral, this (Monday) afternoon, at two o'clock, from the residence of her parents No. 25 Levee.

MISCELLANEOUS.

On Sunday, July 22, Maria Louisa daughter of Edward and Elizabeth Carter, aged 11 weeks. The friends and acquaintances are respectfully invited to attend the funeral, this (Monday) afternoon, at two o'clock, from the residence of her parents No. 25 Levee.

MISCELLANEOUS.

On Sunday, July 22, Maria Louisa daughter of Edward and Elizabeth Carter, aged 11 weeks. The friends and acquaintances are respectfully invited to attend the funeral, this (Monday) afternoon, at two o'clock, from the residence of her parents No. 25 Levee.

MISCELLANEOUS.

On Sunday, July 22, Maria Louisa daughter of Edward and Elizabeth Carter, aged 11 weeks. The friends and acquaintances are respectfully invited to attend the funeral, this (Monday) afternoon, at two o'clock, from the residence of her parents No. 25 Levee.